Although some of the propositions submitted can not be carried into effect under existing laws, yet I think that a plan for the military administration of your State, and for the necessary protection for the people of Kentucky, may perhaps be devised by some modification of the several propositions presented. To that end the attention of the Department is earnestly devoted, and no effort will be spared to accomplish the desired object. It is obvious that without a concurrence of the Federal and State authorities, little can be done by the Federal Government to relieve the troubles in Kentucky, which, it they do not originate in appear to be which, if they do not originate in appear to be greatly aggravated by, domestic disputes and controversies. We, however, know that affairs in that quarter are already beginning to wear a more pleasing aspect. General Joseph E. THE CAPITAL IN DANGER-THE NEGRO ENLIST MENT BILL.

[From the Richmond Sentinel, Feb. 24.] We doubt if the world has ever before known an example such as is presented in the Confederate Capital this day. Our armies are outnumbered and pressed by an enemy that seeks nothing less than our utter and eternal destruction n this extremity a number of citizens are de In this extremity a number of citizens are de-sirous of proffering their servants, with the con-sent of the latter, to assist in the public defence. The General-in-Chief of our armies warmly advises the policy of securing this aid, and pleads that it would be of great and essential value. The President and Bouse of Represent-atives unite in his views. The government of Virginia warmly advocates this policy. The Legislature of the State concurs. The Confed-erate Senate alone, and the Senate by only one majority, assumes the responsibility of baf-fling and disappointing the verdict of all we respectfully ask that the General Government arm, equip, supply, and pay the forces so used; and in the event of the acceptance of this proposition, in order to prevent any possibility of a conflict with the movements of the Federal Government appoint a General officer to their command, the Governor appointing the field and line officers.

The fifth proposal was this. whose capital has just been sacked. In the name of our own immediate people, we implore our own Senators to reconsider their action. That their course threatens to be injurious. f not fatal, is, we assure them, the over-whelming conviction of that people through whose partiality they hold their present posi-

The fearful responsibility of the course they and their power in opposition to the earnest convictions of those who bestowed them, and who are to suffer so terribly if they are in error. We had hoped that the Legislature now in session would have declared to our Senators ere brooded like nightmare over all our legislative bodies, filling the people with distress and alarm, shall still continue, then we urge the people to meet in mass assembly, and declare people to meet in mass assemory, and declare in voice that can't be misunderstood or despised, their opinion of the measure under considera-tion, and their judgment upon the course of their Representatives. This is no time for mawkish 'delicacy. The public life is in danger, and the public must say whether it shall live rather than choose to die in compli-ment to one or two of its servants. Let us have ment to one or two of its servants. Let us have a grand meeting in the African church to morrow night to consider this question, and declare,

If the Southern people were without arms, and unaccustomed to the use of them; they were, from long and habitual oppression, without the instincts of freedom, with wery remnant of courage and resolution crushd out of them, the occurrences now taking lace would not be surprising. It is not pos-sible that a mere handful of Yankees, foreigners, and negroes will be allowed to pass at will brough the heart of their country when a small cortion of its inhabitants could, by rallying to-ther, envelop, overwhelm, and exterminate nem. If the present movements of the enemy repermitted to be successfully executed, then will have become manifest that some inherent emerit in the cause itself, or some ineradicable choose to assail it. It would be invidious at the present moment to comment with any severity apon the particular communities new immediately invaded. That the State of South Carodiately invaded. That the State of South Carolina should have been overrun and put under the heel of an ipvader without a great bettle and almost without the drawing of blood.

That North Carolina should think of submitting to a similar fate, a like cheap expense to the enemy, are events that certainly could never have been anticipated from the antecedents from the present struggle. If these great communities will turn their eyes to the soil of Virginia, which has been the battle-ground of the war, almost every foot of which exhibits traces of the havoc and devastation that attent the war, almost every foot of which exhibits traces of the havoc and devastation that attend the steps of invasion, those communities will see that invasion is anything but the equivalent of subjugation if only the people are true to themselves. It is a proud fact, not only for the credit of Virginia, but of the South, that those very districts of this Commonwealth which have felt the scourge of invasion and of war most severely are the ones in which the spirit of the backfurs is the most justified and indomitaseverely are the ones in which the spirit of the inhabitants is the most funsubdued and indomicable. It is with no presumptuous pride or offensive vanity that attention is thus invoked to the resolution which Virginia has exhibited under accumulated and protracted adversity. But it is for the laudable purpose of encouraging the newly overrun States, by presenting an example of fortitude and unfailing patriotism wortly of imitation, and full of salutary admonition. It is not impossible that six hundred thousand brave men shall succeed in subdulog and expelling from their borders one-third their number of mercenary soldiers, rendered, audacious by unexpected and unmerited success, who would immediately lose all courage after the first de-

PECULATIONS OF THE NORTHERN JOURNALS-WILL LEE GO SOUTH OR NORTH?-INVASION & THE NORTH RECOMMENDED. [From the Richmond Enquirer, Feb. 24.]

The newspapers of the enemy are discussing the route of Lee's retreat from Richmond. An invasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania is regarded as not unlikely, even as highly probable. With Sherman advancing from the South, these is urnals say that retreat southward is impossible. It is supposed by those best informed that at any moment we might hear of Lee, with the body of his army, making his way to Maryland, hoping with a gambler's desperation that sometning would turn up, that Washington or Philadelphia might be captured, and that the North would thus become tired of the war. But all this we suppose is over now, even in apprehension. Indeed, we do not see why all this should be now beyond apprehension. According to the enemy, Lee cannot, if he would, go south; of course he will not stay to be starved into surrender in Richmond; where, therefore, can be go but north. According to the enemy to go south is but swapping Grant for Sherman—"the devil for a witch"—to stay in Richmond is even worse, the first capture, the The newspapers of the enemy are discussing man—"the devil for a which—to stay in Kienmond is even worse, the first capture, the

THE COMPACT BETWEEN THE GULF AND BORDER

Virginia did not commence this war, nor did Tennessee, Missouri, or Kentucky. Its magnitude and losses were perceived by those on whom the brunt of battle would fall. The States further south, protected by those on the border, repelled advice, rejected concert, and, with fancied security, cut the fastenings which bound us together, and cast Virginia and her children, on the exposed Western frontier, adrift amid terrific and increasing war. In vain did these States foretell the future and protest against the ungenerous rashness of those who bonds which united those who were struggling to save all that is prized among men, there was nothing too sacred to appropriate or abandon, except the plighted faith to be true to each other. These oaths Virginia and her frontier children have not yet broken. The lives of their results of people are now in the trenches, with a daily sa e equal to the necessities of defer all their property has been yielded to the enem in obedience to the request of strategy. The in obedience to the request of strategy. The slaves have been appropriated and losses suffered according to the demands of the advancing enemy. This appropriation of territory and slaves by these States was so much a voluntary contribution by them to the wants of the war, as if bills of grant and emancipation had been passed by their separate sovereign conventions. They were a part of the price contemplated at the time the struggle commenced, to be paid for blessings to be common to all. But the tide is now rolling toward those States who made the fight, who affirmed success or universal destruction, and who swore the oath. This oath has been broken, and they by whom This oath has been broken, and they by whom the first blow was stricken are the first to desert those whose breasts have, so far, received the fury of the storm raised by others. After the border States have offered lands and slaves, as necessary sacrifices to success, they still declare that wife, child, bride, a free tongue, and an unhaised arek are things to be found for. They say to the States of the Gulf, 'now make the same contributions of lands and slaves that you forced us to make, and sentiments, relations,

Monday the compact of mutual support was worken. The bill to appropriate the slaves so s to secure honorable existence was defeated a the Senate chiefly by the vote of the Guit tates. The border States had previously considered to the senate to the senat lost must be reconsidered. The slaves must be given or we may perish. They who watch the destinies of the State declare its wants and tlemand the relief. He for whom the love of the people is only exceeded by his own pure affection for his country—the hero of twenty victories, and the conqueror of every ignoble aspiration—implores the recreant States not to abandon the glory he won for them at Chancellorsville, and not to refuse the liberty he secures by his lines around the still uncorquered capital of Virginia. The army demands that its depleted ranks shall be freemen. We prefer to do this by manly bate; but if they who demand to share our sucses now refuse the means to win that success, hey can so act, but our wives and our honor must still be ours. The difficulty in obtaining peace has been slavery. The appropriation by the border States of their slaves to the pub-ic use has removed that difficulty in negotiaonor and individual pride above sordid property; and let those who are willing to have masters above, that they live upon the hope of aving slaves beneath them, seal their fate with he enemy now thundering at their gates. Per-aps it would be well for the Gulf States to reari, and Kentucky will yet see that their peo-

Significant and important hints, regarding affairs in North and South Carolina, are thrown out by yesterday's Richmond Examiner. It inimates that Sherman and Schofield have formed a junction near Goldsboro, in the former State, and says there is reason to fear that Hood, as well as Hardee, has been cut off from uniting with Johnston. It was Hardee's force that held Charleston, A correspondent before the rebel capital presents everything quiet in the armies, but it (Special Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.) LETTER FROM FRANKFORT.

FRANKFORT, March 2, 1865. The report of the committee in the case of The report of the committee in the case of Col. R. B. Carpenter, recommending articles of impeachment against him, occupied nearly the whole of the morning session in the House.

Mr. Kinney held the floor upon the adjournment resterday evening, and this morning concluded his argument against the report of the committee and in defence of Col. Carpenter. We need not state that his effort was an able and effective one, for his ability and elegance as an orator are too well known throughout the State to require compliment at our hands. son orator are too well known thronghout the state to require compliment at our hands.

He was replied to by Mr. Hanson, from Bourbon, who spoke but for a short time, but with great force and ability, as is his wont. He briefly reviewed the testimony in the case, summed up the law, and drew the conclusion that, though he delighted not in the misfortane of any and would not be a party to anything like a persecution, yet that there was enough developed by the proof to create a reasonable probability of the guilt of the accused, and justice to him, as well as to the Commonwealth, demanded that he should be sent to the bar of the Senate, where he could have an opportunity of vindicating his character from all suspicion if innocent, and if guilty that he might be removed. He contended that inasmuch as the proof in the case had gone upon the record and could not be effaced, which proof tendered mightily to induce the conclusion of guilt, and would judice that conclusion in many minds, it was imperatively due the accused, and he, of all others, if innocent, should most desire an opportunity to rebut the presumption thus created by the proof, and demonstrate his innocence.

Alf. Allen next obtained the floor, and re-Columbia Evacuated by our Troops.

demonstrate his innocence.

Alf. Allen next obtained the floor, and reviewed the whole testimony, point by point, taking up first the Harrison county case, in which it is alleged that Colonel Carpenter sold and assigned his interest in a forfeited recognizance for $1,000, and afterwards collected of the party bound the money, thus receiving his fee in the case (of $300) twice; argued that the evidence demonstrated that the charge was unfounded in fact; that the party bound upon the recognizance had not paid to Carpenter the 30 per cent of the recognizance, but simply went upon a bill of nstrate his innocence. ecognizance, but simply went upon a bill of schange for him by way of accommodation, to xchange for him by way of accommodation, to nable him to raise the money, and not in pay-sent on the recognizance. But that, if he charge were true, it was not a natter for impeachment, but one to be pun-hed by judicial proceeding.

In the cases of More & Graham, he argued that there was no violation of law and no cause r impeachment. So with regard to the charge ome view of the case which Mr. Hunson did-obtended that, with the proof in the case upon he record, as it was, uncontradicted and unex-lained, the good name of the accased could not e vindicated by refusing to send him to the enate. That that was the only means left him Mr. Herrod explained his action in calling for vestigation, and briefly opposed the report the committee. At the close of the argument Mr. Alf. Allen offered, as a substitute for the report of the committee, a resolution that, in the judgment of the House, the proof did not justify the impeach, ment of Mr. C., which was adopted by yeas 42. nays 15. So that, so far as the Legislature is concerned, he is acquitted, and triumphantly. It is to be hoped that, upon trial of the various indictments against him, he may be equally successful, as a generous people cannot but be grat-lifed at the vindication of the character of any one, and especially of one of high position, from charges or imputations of crime. The question of adjournment was taken up, and Mr. Webb offered & new resolution. that, when the Legislature adjourn on Monday, the 6th inst., it adjourn to meet again on the third Tuesday of May naxt, which was adopted, after resident and Cabinet of expressions on ap-roval and support of that meeting as evincing firm and solid purpose to preserve the Union mbroken. Suffice to say, the resolutions passed, and, if no on as guilty of any impropriety in the matter, none will suffer any injury by the investigation. one will suffer any injury by the investigation. And, if wrongs and outrages were perpetrated, it is right and proper that they be ventilated, and the perpetrators brought to grief, or, sat least, exposed to public condemnation.

> After much skirmishing and strategy, the Senate also passed a bill for the benefit of J. B. Akin, the live proprietor of the Capital Hotel, giving him authority to give concerts and other entertainments in his house for the amusement of his quests and the public without over bent of his guests and the public without paying fax for the privilege. Mr. A. certainly abors most assiduously for the entertainment of his guests, and should not be cramped in his of his guests, and should not be evamped in his perations. He has a magnificent hotel build by, but one which has proven a burden upon he city of Frankfort, and it is to be hoped that he will succeed in his laudable undertaking of elieving the city of Frankfort from a burden, not successfully keeping affoat this hotel. And it his connection, we would suggest that the ceislature is about adjourning, and as this is: districts, cannot do better than to take rooms at the Capital. Here they will have all the ad-vantages of the city and all the pleasures of the country combined to a degree that cannot easily

MOTHER AND A CHILD DROWNED IN A CISTERN.—A week ago last Saturday, a Mrs. Lucretia Ashburn and child, residing in Tremont township, Tazwell county, met with their death in the following manner: Her youngest child, an infant eighteen months old, while playing in the yard, fell in the cistern. Mrs. A. tied a rope around her waist, and went down to get it out, but was unable to return. Her two children, aged four and six years, at her request threw down a chair, churn, and a plank, but were too young to go for assistance, and the unfortunate woman and child both were drowned. The mother had placed the body of the babe in the woman and child both were drowned. The mother had placed the body of the babe in the churn, thinking probably that it would be safe, and then, worn out with her efforts, sank below the surface. When her husband came home, the two children told him that the body of the baby was in the cistern. On going to see, and drawing up the rope he found the dead bodies of his wife and child —Peoria (IU) Transcript.

THE FOURTH OF MARCH .- This day of Presi dential inauguration is vastly important in our current history. Since the installation of Washngton as the first Chief Executive, the people have looked with profound anxiety to the inception of new Administrations as deeply effecting the national weal or woe; for, with the supremacy of one party succeeding that of another, new policies and new principles have other, new policies and new principles have been engrafted upon the country. When, how. ever, an Administration is continued in power, much of public solicitude is relieved by the fact that its line of future action has been chiefly declared in its former course, and the popular that course having been wise must still conduce FURNISHING to the general good, while the minority, in the spirit of enlightened democracy, yields with papatient acquiescence. The American people have paid a very high compliment to Abraham Lincoln in retaining his service for another term as their Chief National Executive. His administration during the last four years may have, and doubtless has, been marked by acts unwise and ill-timed, but, it should be remembered, never since the gov- SHRTS MADE to ORDER ernment was framed has the Presidential office been encumbered by exigencies at once so novel and perilous as those which, from the inception of Mr. Lincoln's administration, have embarrassed his official labors. When he assumed the Presidency, the country had known comparatively little of war: the people were but children of luxury and peace. ern times has been waged, and they who were PRATHER & SMITH'S. children have become giants in strength and giants in will, inured to the hardest toil. It requires, therefore, a full conception of the great dangers encountered to justly estimate the administration of the last four years. During that period novel measures, antagonistic to ong-cherished popular principles, have been best. We should be unpatriotic not to hope this, whatever we may fer. No other Administration of the Government has encountered so much opposition and denunciation as that which Mr. Lincoln's has sustained, and yet, after a canvass of its entire history, the people resolved to A. RAWBON, OHN A. BEIDGLAND, continue it in power. We acquiesce in the popular determination, and stand ready to uphold the President during his second term in all that he shall wisely do to defeat our enemies and restore the integrity of the national Union. When we have reason to differ from him, we we shall endeavor to differ kindly. We can repudiate none of our opinions. We doubt not that Mr. Lincoln appreciates the mighty trust which the American people have placed in his hands, and we are sure that the people, sensible of the trying duties with which he is charged, will devote their lives and all they have, if need be, in sustaining him in his constitutional action throughout this perilous struggle. After four years of costly and desperate conflict with rebellion, the present is auspicious of complete national triumph, and we believe, that, long before the expiration of is second term, Abraham Lincoln will "execute the laws" throughout every State. Let; then, the clamors of party for a brief while cease; let all the energies of the country be concentrated upon the grand purpose of this war; let the President direct those energies with an eye single to the nation's redemption, and, under Providence, we shall witness, four years hence. the Government restored wherever its legitimate jurisdiction pertains, and peace and prosperity will be permanently established in the land.

The next day, after the above article appeared, all rebeldom was in unbounded ecstacies of delight. The joy was no longer "sober." Lincoln despotism—Northern vulgarity and avarice were to be humbled in a twinkling. Salvos of artillery were fired all over the South. Mass meetings were improvised everywhere, composed of madmen, and addressed by men who ware little less than raying maniacs. There vere little less than raving maniacs, There appeared then the wonderful and unprece stance of an entire people being smitten with It is not correct to say, that "the entire people" of the South were at that time "smitten with insanity." Then and for a good while afterwards a great many of the people of that section were against the rebellion and for the Union. The loyal press everywhere expressed the fullest conviction, that, if all pressure were lifted from the Southern people, leaving them free to speak and vote according to their own opinions, a decided majority of them would go for the Union without hesitation. Their osten sible unanimity in favor of secession was de nounced as an extorted, a compelled unanimity This was President Lincoln's view, and he ex pressed it on many occasions. He even stated that, if he supposed the Southern people to be united in favor of the rebellion, he should make no effort to bring them back by force. He claimed to use force for the reason that he deemed it his duty to give freedom of word and vote and action to true Union men crushed down by a most inexorable despotism.

What the Illustrious Abernethy said.

"Well, sir, what's the matter?" said Abernethy, the great English surgeon, to a cadaverous-looking patient, who had called to consult him, "Oh, nothing serious," was the reply; "my stomah and liver are out of order; that's all." "Do you call that nothing serious," said Abernethy; "I tell you, sir, that when these two organs are out of order, as you call it, there is not a square inch of the body that is not more or less diseased, nor a drop of blood in it that is in a healthful condition," Nothing can be more true, and therefore it is of the very highes importance to keep the stomach and liver in a vigorous condition. If the one is weak and the other irregular in its action, tone and control them with HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, the most genial administered as a cure for Dyspepsia and Liver Disease It is recommended by distinguished surgeons and physicians of the United States Army, by officers of the Army and Navy, by our first authors, by eminent clergymen, in fact by thousands of the most intelligent of every class, as an unequalled protective against epidemic and malarious diseases, and as a perfectly innocuous but at the same time powerful invigorant and alterative.

LETTER FROM FRANKFORT. [Special Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.]

FRANKFORT, March 3, 1865. We deem it proper to say that in our letter with regard to Adolphus Myers, and his appointment by Ayjutant-General Lindsey, we meant no reflection upon Judge Wintersmith, and did not mean to insinuate that he had acted in any manner reprehensible in recommending Myers for a commission. We doubted not but that Judge W. had good reason to regard him as a worthy man. Our object was simply that Judge W. had good reason to regard him as a worthy man. Our object was simply to vindicate General Lindsey from an implied want of the exercise of proper precaution in the granting of commissions. We will say this much further, that General Lindsey informs us that the second letter informing him of the improper conduct of said Myers, alluded to by the Judge was never received.

improper conduct of said Myers, alluded to by the Judge, was never received, so that all parties now stand properly before the public, and neither Judge Wintersmith nor General Lindsev is liable to any censure in the matter.
Very little was done in either branch of the Legislature this morning; that is, very few separate measures were disposed of, though much may result from the action, of importance to the public as well as individuals. The House took up the report of the committee in the case of Judge Bullitt, and, after amending the resolutions of the committee, at the instance the case of Judge Bullitt, and, after amending the resolutions of the committee, at the instance of Alf. Allen, so as to provide for the appointment of a committee to prepare an address in his case, and fixing the trial for an adjourned session in May, of which Judge Bullitt is to have notice and the privilege of attending by himself or an attorney, and compulsory process for the procurement of testimony on his behalf, adonted the report.

The House also passed the Senate bill to re-organize the militia of the State.

The Senate passed the House bill in relation to the agent of the Auditor, reducing his percentum to tea and fifteen per cent. Also the House resolutions in relation to Judge Bullitt, and receded from its amendment to the adjourning resolution of the House. So that it is now finally settled there will be a recess from next Monday till the third Tuesday in May. We shall cut this communication short.

General Orders, No. 22.

The following report of the Board, appointed by the President of the United States to examine and correct the quotas of the several States and Districts, under the call or Vocunteers of December 19, 1264, is published for the information of all concerned:

SIR: The Board, convened by the following order-The Beard, convened by the Executive Mansion, Washington City, February 6, 1865.

their service, shall be considered so as to equalize the dra't.

The number of men liable to military duty is to be det rained by the enrolment l'sts.

The number of men which had been furnished by the various localities, and their periods of service, were ascertained, and previous secounts having been adjusted, the excesses, where they existed, were carried forward under the last draft.

The amount of service furnished is determined by multiplying the number of men raised by the number of years for which they enlisted.

Having thus ascertained the number of men enrolled on the sist day of December, 1864; the number of men furnished up to that date; the localities from which they come, and the periods of their service, it is proposed to distribute the call for 300,000 men among the several districts, and parts of districts, according to the number enrolled in each, and the number of men furnished, and the periods of service previously rendered by each.

Attorney-General of the United States. Brig,-Gen'l, and Chief Eng., U. S. A. C. W. FOSTER, Colonel, and Asst. Adjutant-General.

By Order of the Secretary of War; A. LINCOLN.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF KENTUCKY, LOUISVILLE, KY., March 2, 1865.

General Orders, No. 6.

Colonel Eli H. Murray, now in this Department, is directed to assume command of all the troops in the Second Military District of Kentucky, with his head-quarters at such point as he may select.

Major Wolfiy, of the same regiment, now in this Department will report to Colonel Murray for duty.

The Quartermaster and Commissary Departments will supply the troops under Colonel Murray's command upon requisitions approved by him.

Colonel Murray will break up the cavalry posts in the part of Kentucky occupied by his troops, and establish such posts as he may judge necessary for the defence of the country and for the supply of his mounted force, to be held by infantry, and will, with his cavalry, energetically pursue and destroy the guerillas and robbers who infest the country.

It is particulary enjoined that discipline be enforced, and pillaging and disorder amongst the troops he prevented by the employment of all proper means.

All prisoners will be sent to these Headquarters, and of witnesses.

The Clothing Trade.—Harper's Weekly for February 25th has a beautiful engraving of Spring and Summer Fashions for 1865, furnished by Messrs. Carter, Kirtland, & Co., manufacturers and jobbers of Clothing, No. 340 Broadway, New York.

The engraving represents some of the styles which that enterprising house have projected.

which that enterprising house have projected for their spring jobbing business. The com-ments of the Weekly upon the Clothing Trade, which follow the plate will be found interest-ing, and we give them for the benefit of our ing, and we give them for the benefit of our readers:

"No better evidence can be afforded of the stability and confidence of the country during a prolonged war than the steady, quiet progress of the various branches of industry and trade. The Clothing Trade has participated to the full-est extent in the general activity.

"The wholesale clothing business rests upon a permanent and enduring basis. Intelligent capitalists have so developed it, that it now apitalists have so developed it, that it now ecuples the first business rank vieing in im-ortance with any of the great commercial or ndustrial interests of the age. But its successindustrial interests of the age. But its successful prosecution requires a peculiar combination of talent. Long experience in the trade, thorough knowledge of the wants and tastes of the public, skill in designing the patterns, and rare business talents are indispensably necessary to success; and to these must be added large capital. Messrs. Carter, Kirtland, & Co. have every department of the business under the strictest approximation and such confidence and strictest supervision, and such confidence and satisfaction is felt in their productions that the most fastidious find them as elegant and servicemost rastinious and them as elegant and service-able as the best custom-work. A variety of circumstances conspire to vary the fashions of succeeding seasons, but generally every new year marks an improvement. The styles for 1865, which we instance, will be found far more acceptable, in simplicity and elegance, to the public than those of previous years. The same improvement may also be seen in the materials made up by responsible houses. So much taste made up by responsible houses. So much taste would be usclessly bestowed upon flimsy fabrics. The same judgment which impels the clothiers to design superior patterns suggests

MISS LEO HUDSON, the world renowned equestrione and queen of the Mazzerras, has been engased at the Louisville Theatre, where she drew such immense audiences some months since, and will make her first appearance there on Tuesday night next, March tilk, in her unequalled representation of MAZZEPPA; which will be put upon the stage with entire new scenery, new dresses, and new appointments throughout, to realize the poet's fancy as nearly as art and mechanism can accomplish it. The play is replete with natural, romantic, and terrific situations, and the dialogue breathes the numbers penned by the immortal bard, which soothe, cntrance and electrify. The personal beauty and grace of Miss Hudson aid materially in sliling to the eye the picture drawn by the poet, and none who appreciate poetry and art combined, should fail an opportunity to witness this wonderously beautiful performance. During her engagement she will also appear in Rookcood, Putnam, French Spy, Don Caesar de Eazam, Jerry Albushaw, (the latter being a new piece of which she has secured the copyright, and which will be first presented to a Louisville audience), and many other rine and familiar plays in which she is much admired.

on your tract of lund, and, in my opinion, fully justify the thorough development contemplated by the compa f22 dtf

Petroleum, Coal Oil, or Rock Oil, IN REGIONS OF COUNTRY WHERE IT EXISTS it is most generally found upon the margins of coal fields probably many miles away, and most frequently under hilly, rocky lands where there are indications of under hilly, rocky lands where there are indications upheavals at one time and frequently where it exit the oil is seen upon the surface of springs and stream giving it a pre-sy appearance and frequently the rai bow colors. Should any one know of such indications will make it largely to their interest to give me from distely information as to its exact locality. Cut this;
